VOLUME II No. 17

No surprises in this riding

While, in many other ridings of the country, Liberal candidates were unseating Tory incumbents Monday night, there were few surprises in Victoria-Haliburton when the smoke had finally cleared.

As expected, incumbent Progressive Conservative candidate Bill Scott was returned to office, taking with him an 8000 vote lead over his nearest rival, Ivan Rodd of the Liberals.

The unofficial returns, as reported by the constituency returning officer Tuesday morning, showed Scott captured 20,634 votes, Rodd was second with 12,578, Daniel of the NDP third with 9,044 and Hayes of the Libertarian Party a distant fourth with 375 votes. (Official results, which will probably not vary a great deal from the above figures, will be known in a few days).

A total of 42,631 electors voted Monday.

If there was any indication that this riding was following the national trend it was in the loss of votes garnered by Scott during this election. In May of last year the PC candidate topped the polls with 26,624 votes, more than half of those cast. Monday's polling saw his total drop by 6,000, to less than one half of the total votes cast, but with still a comfortable lead over his nearest rival.

The Liberal totals remained constant between the two elections. David Logan, who was the Liberal candidate May 22 captured 12,004 votes, while Ivan Rodd led the Liberals to a 12,578 vote total this time around.

Much of the Conservative loss in this election appears to have been picked up by the New Democratic Party. Patrick Daniel, running in his second election as the NDP candidate polled 9,044 during this vote compared with 6,052 May 22.

While still only a minor party, the Libertarian strength also grew during the Monday vote. The 375 votes gained this election compares with the 100 garnered May 22.

Successful candidate Bill Scott while pleased with the local results was less than enthusiastic with the national outcome. "We as a party probably lost support because of the gas price issue," Scott said. "The people didn't want to hear about the dollar and cents facts that the Conservatives were attempting to lay before them. In this riding, I think the people were aware of just how important these things are to the country and they were willing to face up to them."

Scott refused to comment on whether the Progressive Conservatives would be seeking a new party leader as a result of the loss Monday.

"That question will have to be assessed by the caucus as a whole," Scott said. "I'm not going to be the one to start something now. What we need is an assessment, not so much of leadership, but of the advisors around the leader and the issues the party pursued."

The MP, who will be returning to the House of Commons for his sixth term, said that Clark had "out-campaigned" Trudeau and that the Conservatives had presented a platform of policies. He suggested the image of the PC leader might have created a problem for Clark.

"The Liberals swept Quebec, and with that block behind them they are a hard party to beat," Scott said. He suggested that the loss of southern Ontario seats to the Liberals may have been the result of local issues.

A complete poll-by-poll breakdown of the voting in Haliburton County can be found on page five of this week's edition of The Times.

Arson suspected in cottage blaze

Police believe that arson was the cause of a fire Wednesday afternoon that destroyed a cottage on the narrows between Little and Big Hawk Lakes.

The structure, which belonged to Eunice Gladys Foster of Kirkfield was destroyed by flames.

According to residents in the area the cottage had not been used for over two years. It was also reported that two individuals were seen near the building just before the fire broke out, raising the possibility of arson. The pair were observed leaving the scene quickly and loading their snowmobile on a van at Little Hawk Lake landing.

Damage was estimated at $13,000.

The Stanhope fire brigade responded to the alarm but were unable to save the structure. The firefighters were forced to drag portable equipment across the lake by snowmobile to the scene of the fire which caused further delays in fighting the blaze.

The police are continuing their investigation into the incident with Constable Barry Connelly of Minden OPP in charge.

Minden captures B honours in tournament

The Fenelon Falls midget team won the fifth annual Tim Harrison Memorial tournament this past weekend in Minden.

The event saw the local squad take the consolation honours, after being beaten out by Fenelon in the opening game.

The six team event opened Saturday morning with Minden facing the tough Fenelon squad. In a see-saw battle that saw the score tied for a large portion of the game, the visitors came out on top at the end with a 4-3 margin.

Playing in the final minutes of the game the score was tied 3-3. (By virtue of the, "first goal scored wins the game", rule Fenelon would have claimed the victory had the game ended in a tie. Minden pulled their netminder, in the last minute and applied pressure around the visitor's net.

However, Fenelon was able to get one shot away which appeared to be heading wide of net. It was tipped by a Minden player and Fenelon had the 4-3 edge at the eight second mark.

Scoring for Minden in the first contest was Ron Yake from Shaun Chapman;

Chapman from Yake; and Ivan Ingram from Yake and Dave Lennie.

Minden advanced to the consolation round and did so in convincing fashion, defeating Angus 13-0. Harold Porter led the attack for Minden with four goals, three of those unassisted, and one assist. Ron Yake picked up a hat trick while Brent Moxam scored a pair and assisted on another. Other goals went to

They're off for Timmy, Sunday

It is "all systems go" for the Snowarama for Timmy this weekend in Minden and Haliburton.

The event, under the sponsorship of the Minden and Haliburton Rotary Clubs, was postponed several weeks ago due to a lack of snow. Organizers now feel that the weatherman has co-operated enough to get the annual event underway, although certain changes in the route have been included to compensate for the less than adequate snow conditions.

The local run is one of a number which take place at various locations across the province. Snowmobile riders gather pledges from the community for the number of kilometers they complete. The course this year is 100 kilometres in length. The funds collected from the ride are donated to the Ontario Society for Crippled Children.

Local co-ordinator, Lionel Walker, said that the route this year will follow a chain of lakes north from Minden to Kennisis Lake and then south to Haliburton Village and back to Minden to complete the loop. The lake course was selected because it was felt there still isn't enough snow on the overland trails to accommodate the heavy traffic. Trails, with snowarama markers, will join the various lake portions of the ride.

Since the ride is a joint effort of the two local Rotary clubs, there will be two starting points. Minden riders will start from the arena. Registration takes place Sunday between 7:30 and 9:30 a.m. Those starting the course in Haliburton can register at the high school during the same hours.

Pat Clark dips water from the Gull River Sunday morning after the second water main break as many weeks cut off supplies to Minden householders. Frost action is believed to have again been responsible for this broken line, this time located on South Water Street near the bridge. While the temporary lack of water caused some problems for Minden residents, for Mr. Clark they brought back memories of the days when residents relied on the lakes, rivers and wells for their water supplies.

FROM THE CHAMBER

By Bob Stinson

One of the important roles of a Chamber of Commerce is to lobby. Lobbying is a necessary and integral part of our democratic process and good politicians rely heavily on responsible lobby groups when making important decisions. The lack of an organization to lobby for your interests means complete lack of input into legislative decisions that affect our lives and our business.

The Haliburton Chamber is a member of the Ontario Chamber of Commerce, and our president, John Hogg is a director on their board. Any concerns that are provincial in nature are directed through this body to the provincial government. Last week the Ontario Chamber presented the Honourable Frank Miller with their pre-budget submission which should provide useful information for his ministry when preparing that budget. Our concerns are included in that submission.

An important factor in this exercise is that it is not just reactionary. It approaches legislation that is being considered before it becomes law and at this point legislators are far more receptive to different points of view.

The Ontario Chamber has also prepared and presented a position paper in respect to "Bill 3", which is an act to amend "The Employment Standards Act". The publicity in the media has suggested that the Chamber's reaction to this bill indicates they are against equal rights for men and women. This is not the case. The Chamber points out in their presentation that legislation already exists that requires employers to provide equal pay to male and female employees who are performing substantially the same work, and prohibits discrimination on the basis of sex with respect to hiring, training, classification, promotion or any other term of condition of employment.

"Bill 3" attempts to go a step farther and dictate that equal pay be applied to all work of equal value. Value of work is defined in the act as a "composite of the skill, effort and responsibility required in the performance of the work and the conditions under which the work is performed". No provision is made for experience, or for the quality of work or job performance as factors to be taken into account. If an employer cannot reward excellence, then incentive is removed for the employee to excel.

The Chamber has stressed that the implementation of this bill would be extremely costly and difficult, if not impossible, to enforce and that it represents a major intrusion of government into the private business sector. The presentation goes on to detail the anticipated problems in dealing with this bill in connection with collective bargaining agreements and the imbalance it would cause in the labour market place.

"Bill 3" is an unworkable piece of legislation and should not be enacted.

Provincial submissions

Our members are always encouraged to bring matters to our attention that we should be addressing, and at this particular time we ask for any such thoughts. Between now and March 8 we will be preparing several submissions to present the Ontario Chamber at their annual convention. Submissions must be provincial in nature and must be constructive. A constructive submission not only identifies the problem but suggests a remedy. Any submissions that are to be used will be discussed here in this column to provide an opportunity for further comment from the community.

Books at the printers

Both the Year Round Directory and the Building Trades Directory publications have now been sent to the printer in order to have them ready for the Sportsmen Show next month. We do hope that no one missed being included by not responding to our mailings. Copies of both books will be mailed to all members by the end of March.

Kinmount benefit

A dance was held for the benefit of Joe Maguire and family, of Kinmount, in the Legion Hall on February 9.

Mr. Maguire was badly injured while working in the bush a short time after Christmas, and still must undergo therapy at the Lyndhurst Lodge in Toronto.

The dance, which was very well attended, was given by the Galway & Cavendish Fire Department, with the assistance of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Legion, who donated the hall for the evening.

The community was generous, as usual in a case like this. Donations came from the Townships of Galway-Cavendish, and Somerville. Several businesses, including Canadian Lumber, and numerous individuals generously assisted with the finances necessary to hold the benefit dance.

Safety check yields drugs

A safety spot check last Friday yielded an unexpected haul for Minden OPP.

Constable Al Bibby had stopped a car on Highway 35 four miles south of the village for a routine spot check. Further investigation turned up a quantity of hash oil in the vehicle.

Charged with the possession of a narcotic for the purpose of trafficking was Russell Keith Hodgson of Pickering. He is 26 years of age.

The man was arrested and held by police.

Assault charge

A charge of assaulting a police officer has been laid against Robert George Forbes, 19, of Acton Ontario. The charge was laid following an incident late Saturday evening in Haliburton Village.

According to a report prepared by Minden OPP, the car in which Forbes was a passenger had been stopped

Ivan Ingram with a goal and two assists, Kevin Shaperia with a goal and an assist, Shaun Chapman with one, and Terry Allore with a goal and an assist. Rick Beene and Dave Lennie were also credited with assists.

It was the classic confrontation in the consolation championship with Minden facing Haliburton. Once again the local team came through with a shut-out performance, downing the Haliburton squad 6-0.

Scoring for Minden were Brent Moxam and Harold Porter each with a pair and Shaun Chapman with a goal and an assist and Ivan Ingram with a single and two assists. Also credited with assists were Rick Beene, Ron Yake with three and Dave Lennie with one.

Terry Crowe was the Minden netminder who turned aside the onslaught in both games to come up with the shut-out. For his efforts he was named top goalie of the tournament.

The championship contest stretched into overtime as Beaverton and Fenelon Falls both ended regulation play deadlocked at 2-2. Fenelon was able to score the extra marker and claim the championship trophy in the first extra period of play.

Sweethearts

Jane and Dennis Potter of Minden were the winners last week of The Times Sweetheart Sweepstakes. The contest, held in conjunction with Valentine's Day, was co-sponsored by three area merchants. Entrants were required to name their favourite sweetheart. Their entry was drawn from the close to 100 received for the contest. As winners they received a flowering plant from Campbell's Garden Centre, a box of chocolates from the Minden Drug Store and a $10 gift certificate from Dixie Lee.

Car tangles with plough

A collision between a Ministry of Transportation and Communications snow plough and a car at the intersection of Highway 35 and County Road number 1 at Carnarvon has resulted in $2000 damage to the car.

The plough, driven by Ronald J. Arbuthnot, 45 of Minden, was travelling south on the highway. The car, driven by Brian J. St. John, 34 of Uxbridge, was travelling east on the county road when it slid out onto the highway and collided with the plough.

St. John suffered minor injuries in the mishap. The driver of the plough was unhurt and there was no damage to the MTC vehicle.

The accident, which took place February 17, was investigated by Constable Dennis Potter.

Roads dispute surfaces

What appears to be a long simmering dispute within the Anson, Hindon and Minden roads department boiled briefly to the surface at the opening of the council meeting last Wednesday morning.

Former road superintendent, Earl Hewitt, speaking as a "concerned citizen" questioned the actions of the members of township council. He said it had met a week earlier with members of the roads department to, in Hewitt's words, "ridicule the road superintendent", Earl Kent.

Reeve Sinclair Nesbitt immediately denied the allegation and stated that the meeting had been called at the request of the members of the road staff, including the superintendent.

The exact purpose of that meeting was not revealed, but from what was said at the council meeting Wednesday, there appears to be a serious rift in the roads department that is hurting the efficiency of the department. The Thursday meeting was apparently called to help resolve those differences.

Hewitt claimed that when the council met with all the members of the road crew it was in effect going "over the head" of the superintendent. Hewitt claimed the council was siding with the "trouble-makers" in the department.

He also cited a Ministry of Transportation and Communications publication which sets out guidelines for township road superintendents. It states that the superintendent is to carry out his duties without direct interference from individual councillors. "He should receive his orders from the council as a whole, or a road committee..." the guidelines state.

Hewitt claimed the council had not adhered to this principle when the whole council met with the members of the roads department.

Reeve Nesbitt in response suggested that Hewitt was "way off the beam". He said the meeting on Thursday had not been a council meeting, in the formal sense of the term, but was "just a meeting to hash out the problems in the roads department." The reeve pointed out that everyone had an opportunity to comment on the problems and that there was little value in asking the entire roads department to attend a regular meeting of council. "As long as I am reeve I'll meet with anyone on the staff to help resolve a problem," the reeve commented.

Councillor Stuart Brandon said the meeting had been called because instructions from the council to the roads department were not being carried out. "We did resolve some problems," Brandon said.

Nesbitt added that no individual councillor had attempted to give direction directly to the road crew. The other councillors concurred with this statement.

Councillor Lyle McKnight, a member of the roads committee, said the superintendent had been hired to carry out his duties and the council expected him to do it, including the hiring, firing and reprimanding of employees as needed.

Hewitt said he agreed with that, but said that when the staff came directly to the council with their problems, the system doesn't work.

The council briefly discussed the question of whether minor repairs to township vehicles should be carried out at the township's garage or a privately owned garage before the matter was dropped.

Pair resign from executive

President of Branch 129, Royal Canadian Legion, Haliburton, Allin Cooper has announced that the secretary-manager of the branch, Doug Armstrong and executive member and padre, Norm Healy, have resigned from their posts. Their resignations were accepted at a closed executive meeting held February 7.

The resignations follow a long series of disputes at the Legion. Earlier this year there had been an attempt to unseat the president.

Zone F4 Commander,

Doug Worrall and District F Commander Merrill Dunn presided at the executive meeting. The president of the branch had called on these two senior officers in hopes that their efforts might help resolve the impasse.

A general meeting of the members followed the executive session and the resignations were also accepted by the membership. The Legion members also heard a plea for unity and dedication to the organization from past president, Mel Robertson.

The revolving stereo set

They just couldn't give the new stereo set away Saturday evening at a special benefit dance for Grenville Stamp.

The stereo was one of several prizes being raffled off at the benefit held in the West Guilford community hall. It wasn't that nobody won it, it was just that those who did kept donating the prize back into the cause. The action exemplifies the spirit of the evening as friends, neighbours and relatives attended a number of events in West Guilford in aid of Grenville Stamp.

The man was seriously injured in a car accident last summer and has been undergoing therapy in Toronto. He has lost the use of his arms and legs.

Shortly after the accident a group was formed to help raise funds to assist with additional expenses which will be incurred by the family.

Some 225 attended a supper Saturday evening in West Guilford and 50 snowmobilers took part in a cross-country snowmobile ride. The big event of the evening was the dance at the community centre. According to all reports, the hall was filled to capacity with people travelling from Toronto, Windsor, Oshawa and other points in the province to attend. Grenville was home for the weekend and was on hand to greet his many friends at the various functions.

The stereo raffle was won by Joyce Griffin, who promptly donated the prize back to the organizers who held a second draw. This time the unit was won by Gord Monk, who in turn donated it back to the committee. The group may attempt to give it away at a future dance or is considering the possibility of having it installed in a van they hope to purchase for Grenville.

Plans are already underway for another benefit dance April 5 in Haliburton. The committee has rented the Legion hall for the evening.

The activities this past weekend raised $3500, more than the organizers expected.

Editorial

Small is beautiful

Living in a small community does have its advantages. However, we must admit to, as we suspect most residents do from time to time, looking at the larger urban centres of this country with a certain degree of envy.

For example, it would be nice to be just minutes away from a first run movie or the best in stage entertainment. The diversions offered by the large metropolitan area are indeed an attraction. So too are the wide and varied shopping opportunities that just can't be provided any distance from a population concentration. For those in search of work, the employment opportunities of the large centres are many and varied.

Somehow, and perhaps it is the "grass is always greener" syndrome, when we survey life in the city from our "rural" setting, we seem only able to see those things which, on occasion, we miss. For example, whose daydreaming includes the pall of polluted air that chokes the large cities, or the noise, dirt and crime? Our envy generally blots out these blemishes on the suburban landscape.

One aspect of living in a small community, an aspect that one often finds missing in the bustle of the big city, is the gentle art of neighbourliness. From the friendly nods and smiles that greet one on the street, to the community-wide response at times of crisis, the small town outscored the metropolis hands down.

This facet of small town life, and perhaps it is the most important part of being a member of a community, is demonstrated on countless occasions. In the past few weeks, for example, in the communities of Kinmount and West Guilford, neighbours and friends rallied to support a resident who was in need.

It is this sort of community spirit that sustains and nurtures small towns, even though they may not have all the glitter and variety of the larger centres. It is this sense of community which attract people from the cities to the "quiet" country. It is this sort of thing that makes Minden, or Haliburton or Kinmount or West Guilford or any other of the countless communities across this country great places to live.

Kin diamond jubilee

We note that today marks the sixtieth anniversary of the Kinsmen Club movement in Canada.

Started on this date in 1920, the organization has grown from a handful of men who met in a small restaurant in Hamilton, to a service group that has 18,000 members and over 600 clubs.

Part of that membership includes the Kinsmen Club of Minden which received its charter in May 1956. The local group has taken an active part in the community. They organize our annual winter carnival, have contributed to the local ambulance service and are ready volunteers and fund raisers for many other events. On a national scale the local group shoulders their share of the annual drive for funds to assist cystic fibrosis research.

On this important Kinsmen anniversary we extend to the local club, and Kinsmen across Canada, warm thanks for your efforts in the community. Minden, Haliburton County and Canada is richer because of your efforts.

REPORT FROM QUEEN'S PARK

By John Eakins, M.P.P.

As you are probably aware, the Ontario Liberal Party has established a labour task force. Its purpose is to obtain grass-roots participation in the preparation of a labour policy paper. All aspects of labour-management relations are, of course, important, but it is anticipated that special emphasis will be given to:

(1) Labour legislation.

(2) Women in the workplace.

(3) Union security and union responsibility.

(4) Rights of unorganized workers.

(5) Management rights and responsibilities.

(6) Manpower/management programs.

Liberal Labour Critic Ron Van Horne (MPP London North) is chairman of the task force. He will be assisted by Ray Haggerty (Erie), Jim Bradley (St. Catharines) and Alf Stong (York Centre), as well as local members in the communities in which the public hearings are to take place.

It is the intention to hold hearings in a number of Ontario communities, both large and small. A first series of meetings will take place beginning February 25. Already a number of questions have been suggested for consideration in connection with the hearings of the task force.

For example, should all workers in a union shop be required to pay union dues? Should the government impose a first contract if the parties are unable to agree?

What actions should employers and workers be able to take during a legal strike?

With respect to unorganized workers, should they have some protection against being fired without good reason? Should employees be required to give notice if they leave a job without good reason?

On the subject of management rights and responsibilities, how can we improve productivity, particularly in manufacturing? How much notice of technological change or layoffs should employers be required to give? Should workers be forced to retire at age 65?

Women in the workplace will doubtless give rise to considerable discussion. Should equal pay for work of equal value be legislated? How adequate are current provisions regarding pregnancy leave? What are the costs and benefits of making day care more widely available?

What about manpower programmes? Does our education system prepare students adequately for jobs? Can the apprenticeship system in Ontario be improved and expanded? Should a levy be assessed against all employers to ensure that they contribute toward the cost of training?

These and many other questions have been asked. We have already formulated answers in some instances.

Those Dangerous Polls

By: Roger Worth

Some television programs are scrapped after a 13-week run because audience ratings aren't up to scratch. Many new products don't hit the national or international market because surveys indicate consumer resistance, for whatever reason. Even do-or-die government decisions are many times based on random samples of public opinion.

In fact, "sophisticated" ratings systems, market surveys, and public opinion polls that supposedly take the pulse of the nation have become an important element in Canadian life.

Roger Worth is Director, Public Affairs, Canadian Federation of Independent Business.

But are the results of such polls dependable? Do Canadians really want poll results to affect something as fundamental as who will govern the country?

The question arises because of increasing public resistance to the rising number of polls taken during recent election campaigns.

Gallup, as well as the major newspaper chains and television networks all play the one-upmanship game, endeavouring to upstage competitive media with poll results.

The media nabobs call it freedom of the press.

What's important is that voters can be influenced by poll results, particularly considering the inordinate amount of attention they receive. In fact, poll results are given such a degree of credence and authenticity by the media that even an incorrect poll can become a self-fulfilling prophecy.

An example of the inherent weakness in the system: two polls taken recently by Canada's major television networks differed by 20 percentage points on the number of people who were "undecided" about how they would vote, to say nothing of estimated support for the various political parties.

By overplaying poll results, Canada's major media outlets are asking for trouble.

Already election polls have been outlawed in British Columbia, and the Quebec government is taking the same tack on the referendum.

Freedom of the press is a fundamental principle in Canada, but it carries with it the concomitant responsibility not to overemphasize such "news" as poll results for competitive reasons.

The danger is that poll results may influence voters to hop on a party bandwagon as they attempt to support a winner, rather than making a thoughtful decision on the basis of policy, leadership, and the issues of the day.

Editor:

What I think of as a fantastic idea occurred to me last evening. Respecting your opinion as, "a voice of the community", I would like to air this thought with you.

I can remember the articles written in The Times last autumn concerning the plight of young parents and the need for day care for their youngsters. I have recently heard of the loneliness of several of the more senior members of our community. It occurred to me that should these three age groups get together, a great benefit would be shared by all.

I propose a formation of a non-profit group with a professional supervising a proper licenced day care centre and with basically volunteer "grandparent" assistants. The ladies, (and men, if they wish), could be in charge of preparing the noon meal, interacting with the children during play periods and supervising during rest periods.

The men could tinker at designing and building equipment for the centre. And, of course, there are administrative jobs which would be available for those who are business-minded. The local merchants might even become involved in this community project and in some way support it. With all this volunteer work, the parents would benefit from lower rates.

I can see this working! But, it will take a lot of combined effort. Do you think this community is up for it, or am I reaching for the stars?

Faith Stephenson, Box 13, Minden.

Editor's note: It's an idea that has been tried successfully in other communities and it just might 'click' here. The first question to be answered however is, "Are there enough seniors who would be interested in such a program?" Let's hear from you.

The count

There were 60,546 eligible voters in the riding of Victoria-Haliburton for the February 18 federal election. Of this number, 42,631 cast ballots. Approximately 70 percent of the eligible voters in the riding cast ballots, down slightly from the May 22 vote when 76 percent turned out. The figures below represent the poll-by-poll breakdown of voting throughout Haliburton County. One interesting note is that the winner, Bill Scott won in all polling divisions except one, Kinmount, where he resides.

Cottage country lost

by Jack Brezina

Just about every aspect of life in Ontario has been chronicled in at least one "coffee table" book or another, so it was only a matter of time before someone would get around to producing one on the Muskoka-Haliburton area.

This latest work, entitled Cottage Country is an attempt to capture the elusive essence of this part of Ontario which, for the residents of Toronto and suburbia to the south, is an idyllic island of peace and tranquility. Unfortunately for the photographer, Peter Fowler, and the reader, it is an effort that falls far short of that objective.

The Muskoka-Haliburton area offers the roving lens a feast of subjects and settings. The lakes, rushing water, trees in each of the four seasons, jagged rock outcroppings and the parade of people, both local and seasonal, who play upon this backdrop, this is all ideal material for a photographer.

But, the photographer is also caught in a dilemma. Most of it has been recorded before. The breathtaking panorama of coloured leaves in the fall in the Highlands has been imprinted on film so many times that it has become as hackneyed as the phrase, "so what!". Likewise the still, mist covered water at sunrise or the gnarled tree, silhouetted against the sunset, is familiar ground covered by many a cameraman, amateur or pro, in the past.

The beauty of nature is so seductive it is hard to resist the impulse to photograph it, but if the author is to convince the public that his book is indeed worth the $12.95 price tag, he will have to produce scenes more impressive than those found on the 15c post cards at the drug store.

Many of the photographs fall into this trap. Others seem to be reaching for a cliché, but even fall short of that goal and still others stand out as excellent examples of the essence and mood of cottage country.

The cover photograph of the traditional totem pole of signs strikes the right tenor, as does the abandoned outhouse near Bala and the storefront cluttered with signs in Parry Sound.

Technically the photographs are sharp and clear. The colour is bright, perhaps too bright in some cases as the green of the trees and the blues of the sky and water are too rich. Like a sugary dessert, one can take a little of this kind of thing, but too much leaves one begging for relief.

Some of the photographs, particularly those of lingering sunsets, are flawed by spotty negatives or unexplained lines, some probably the result of inept retouching work, that detract from the impact of the shots.

We were also disappointed to note that a book that extolls the virtues of a great Canadian tradition, one that seeks to show the summer playground of the Ontario city people, was printed in Hong Kong. There are no doubt certain economies to be realized by shipping the manuscript across the Pacific and the finished product back to Toronto, but it is indeed unfortunate the distributors, Oxford University Press, chose to ignore the struggling Canadian publishing industry.

Gordon Sinclair, that raspy, opinionated broadcaster from Toronto and longtime summer resident of the Muskoka area, provides an introduction. His observations, while adding somewhat to the tone the book is trying to achieve, still cannot rescue the efforts of the author. Sinclair's greatest contribution is the use of his name on the front cover.

After all this, will the book be popular? No doubt it will sell like warm cakes. Despite its shortcomings, it is the sort of picture book that most people will want to have around their cottages to look at on rainy days. The photographer has travelled the Muskoka-Haliburton area extensively enough so that local and seasonal residents from throughout cottage country will find at least one or two photographs that they recognize. The familiarity of the subject matter breeds, among other things, popularity.

(The book includes photographs from the following areas in Haliburton: Gull Lake; Buttermilk Falls; Lake Kashagawigamog; Dorset; Miner's Bay; Camp Onondaga; Moore Falls; Camp Kandalore; Norland; and Twelve Mile Lake, among others.)

Cottage Country was a good idea that falls short of achieving its aim.

Cottage Country: photographs by Peter Fowler; Oxford University Press; Canada: $12.95; 86 full colour plates.

Tammy Dewey, centre, was chosen queen of the Haliburton Village winter carnival this past weekend. She reigned over a weekend of activities in that community which included snowmobile races, traditional winter sports, dances and a host of other events. Named first princess of the carnival was Helene Hellquist, left, while the second princess was Nina Anderson, right.

A charge of assault causing bodily harm has been laid against Richard Allan Hartwick of Kinmount following an incident February 11 at the Minden arena. The accused is 26 years of age.

The assault is alleged to have taken place during a hockey game in which Hartwick was a participant. According to the police, Hartwick had become annoyed when the referee of the Minden Men's Town Hockey League game, William J. Davis, of Haliburton, apparently did not call a penalty. An argument ensued and the referee eventually assessed a misconduct penalty against Hartwick. Following a further argument, the referee was struck in the mouth.

Bantam

It is time for the Minden Bantams to hang up their skates until next season.

Following a 5-0 trouncing at the hands of Bobcaygeon on February 14, they were put out of the play-offs 3-0 by Bobcaygeon.

Midget

The Minden Midgets are obviously a team that doesn't give-up easily. After being downed 4-0 and 8-5 by Bobcaygeon in the best-of-five play-off series, they kept themselves in the season by playing a 6-2 victory against Bobcaygeon, on February 14. The team continued on its hot streak and shut-out Bobcaygeon 4-0 on February 18, to even up the series at 2 wins apiece.

The Minden goal-scorers in their 8-5 loss were Ivan Ingram with two, Terry Allore, Harold Porter and Kevin Shapiera.

In Minden's 6-2 win Harold Porter and Brent Moxam scored power-play goals in the third period to clinch the victory. Ron Yake scored twice for Minden, while teammates Ivan Ingram and Kevin Shapiera scored the other Minden goals.

Minden goaltender, Terry Crowe shut-out Bobcaygeon, while teammates Shaun Chapman, Ron Yake, Ivan Ingram, and Harold Porter each scored singles, as Minden tied up the series with the 4-0 win.

The deciding game of the series will be played in Minden at 7:00 p.m., on Saturday February 23.

Atom

Omeme kept Minden off the score-board until the 17:14 mark of the third period, and defeat the Minden club 3-1, on Monday, February 11.

Omeme, the home team, scored twice in the second period, and once in the third.

John Wells scored the lone Minden marker late in the third period to break the Omeme goaltender's shut-out. Assists went to Dwayne Cooper and Tom MacLeod.

In the Minden Atoms other contest they tied Orono 3-3, February 14, in Minden.

Tom MacLeod scored twice and Gord Wood once to put the Minden team ahead 3-2. Orono tied the game 6:27 into the third period.

The Minden Atoms record in the round robin play-off series is three wins, three losses and one tie. Minden has three games left to play until the end of the series.

Pee Wee

The Minden Pee Wees lost both games in Bobcaygeon against the home-team, and therefore are out of the play-offs.

On February 12 the Minden team played well, but not well enough as they were shaved 3-2 by Bobcaygeon.

Mike Gorgevatt scored both Minden goals, and Greg Newell assisted on both goals.

Minden's twenty-two minutes in penalties hurt the chances of beating Bobcaygeon, as Bobcaygeon trampled them 6-2.

Minden's two goals came in the third period after Bobcaygeon had taken a 4-0 lead. Mike Gorgevatt and Jeff Howe got credit for the Minden goals.

Juvenile

Ron Yake and Tim Davies were the only Minden goal-scorers, on February 10, as the Minden Juveniles were

Home, Hartwick lead play-offs

The Minden Men's recreational Hockey league has moved into the semi-final play-offs this week with Home Hardware meeting Halls Insurance and Hartwick Construction facing the Rockcliffe Hotel in best of five series.

Seven appeared to be the magic number for the opening games of the series as Home Hardware downed Hall's 7-4 and Hartwick defeated Rockcliffe 7-5.

Leading the scoring for Home Hardware was John Barkwell and Dave Hartwick, each with a pair.

downed 7-2 by home-town Port Carling.

Tri-county Atom

Fenelon falls took the Minden Atoms in two games in the best-of-three play-off round, by scores of 4-1 and 8-0.

Kent Taylor was the Minden goal-scorer in the first game of the series played in Fenelon Falls on February 13.

The Minden club will now play in the consolation round-robin tournament because of their 8-0 home loss on February 15. Fenelon Falls will advance to the championship round.

Novice

Minden defeated Haliburton (Team I) 2-1 on February 12 in Minden.

Scott Russell scored with 8:44 left in the opening period, for Minden.

The second period was scoreless, but 14:46 into the third period Steve Prime tied the score for Haliburton.

Minden's winning goal was scored by Sheldon Stevenson a power-play with 2:56 left in the game.

Up-coming games

February 22 - Port Carling at Minden Juveniles (8:00 p.m.)

February 23 - Omeme at Minden Atoms (3:00 p.m.)

February 23 - Bobcaygeon at Minden Midgets (7:00 p.m.)

D All-Stars taken by Don Mills

The six consecutive goals scored by the Don Mills Flyers, of the Metro Toronto Junior "B" hockey league, paced them to a 9-6 win over the O.H.A. Junior "D" All-Stars, at the Haliburton arena, on Saturday night.

A large boisterous crowd cheered on the All-Stars, and on several occasions let the visiting Don Mills players have a piece of their minds.

The All-Star team was made up of five Haliburton players, Dave Brown, Chris Hodgson, Kevin O'Hara, Joe Roberts, and Mike Scheffee, four Lakefield players, four Bancroft players, and three Bewdley players.

Dave McCormack, of Bancroft, was the goaltender in the first period for the All-Stars, with Eric Soos, of Bewdley, taking over in the second frame, and Eric Jones of Lakefield, awarding the All-Star net in the third period.

Ernie Dufty, of Bewdley, netted all three All-Star goals in the first period, including the opening goal thirty-five seconds into the game. Dufty's outburst put the All-Stars up 3-1 on Don Mills after twenty minutes of play.

Joe Roberts, the captain of the Haliburton Huskies set-up Dufty's first two goals, with in-the-slot passes.

Two Haliburton players, Chris Hodgson, and Dave Brown suffered minor injuries during the first period of play. Hodgson and Brown were forced to sit-out the remainder of the game, but were back in action for the Huskies game against Bewdley Monday night.

After the rough opening period, the All-Stars found an even worse horror story facing them in the following twenty minutes.

The Flyers rallied with six consecutive goals in the middle period, after Paul Tomlin, of Bancroft, had put the All-Stars into a 4-1 lead.

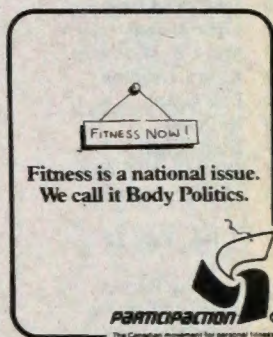

The Junior "B" club continued the romp by adding two goals early in the third period to take a 9-4 lead by the 8:09 mark of the final frame.

Joe Roberts scored twice, at 8:25 and 10:00, to complete his hat-trick, and put the All-Stars back in the game.

The All-Stars put heavy pressure on the Flyers until Mike Scheffee, of Haliburton received a penalty with 2:13 left in the game.

The Stars' only weakness in the third period was a lack of finishing their plays in the opposition's end.

The Flyers, who came out on top 9-6, very effectively used their Junior "B" experience to hook, slash, and cross-check the Stars while the officials backs were turned. There was no need for Don Mills to show this conduct, as they demonstrated when they settled down and played hockey. They could easily out-skate, out-shoot and out-class the best the O.H.A. Junior "D" had to offer.

Members of the Minden Midgets pose for their victory picture after winning the consolation round of the Tim Harrison Memorial Hockey Tournament. The local team took top honours in the 'B' division by defeating the entry from Haliburton 6-0 in the final game. The Minden goalie, Terry Crowe, was named top goaltender of the tournament. He allowed only three goals during the tournament and shut-out the opposing teams in 2 of 3 contests.

Huskies squeeze by Bewdley

The Haliburton Huskies played the bottom-place Bewdley Rangers twice during the past week. The first game between the two clubs was played at Bewdley on February 13, a game which Haliburton had only nine players but still rallied in the third period to tie the game 7-7.

On Monday the two clubs met again, this time at Haliburton, where the Huskies pulled-off a 5-4 victory.

Bewdley led the Huskies 7-3 at the end of the second period, but ironically the nine Huskies players hadn't run out of steam as they rallied with four third-period goals, while shutting-out the Rangers in the final period to dead-lock the game at seven goals.

The Huskies played to a 5-4 victory at home on Monday with most of their "big-guns" out of their lineup.

Chris Hodgson and Steve Davies were out with injuries, while Dave Brown was absent, and Ed Roberts was serving a suspension.

The Huskies had to depend on some of their "lesser lights" to pick up the slack, and pick up the slack is exactly what they did. Andy Salvatori led the way by setting up three of Haliburton's five goals, while Dave Nichols was credited with a goal and an assist.

Cold and stormy on Saturday, snowing on Sunday, some snow early on Election Day. Hope you voted so you can complain! Here it is slippery so take care. Cheerio until next time.

A Penney's Worth

by Yvonne Penney

By the time this column is printed, the election will be all over and we will have a new government. Hopefully, it will be a majority government of one kind or other. The new government must be very tough to get this great county of our back in great shape.

Next weekend is the Snowarama ride for Crippled Children. I certainly hope we get some more snow soon. Whipper Watson says that if we can't run, he will ride to honour our pledges but I for one would like to ride the distance myself.

I visited the Rails End Gallery on Saturday and was quite impressed on my first visit. There are many gift items to be purchased at this sale of handicrafts. The gallery is getting to be quite a popular spot.

We attended the Snow Shuffle at West Guilford on Saturday evening. It was really a gala evening but the dance floor got very crowded so we arrived home at an early hour. Grenville Stamp was in attendance along with all of his loyal and dedicated family.

It isn't the size of your house so much
That matters so much at all.
It's the gentle hand, its loving touch,
That makes it great or small.
The Friends who come, in the hour they go,
Who out of your house depart,
Will judge it not by the style you show —
It's all in the size of your heart.
It isn't the size of your head so much,
It isn't the wealth you found,
That will make you happy —
It's how you touch
The lives that are all around.
For making money is not so hard —
To live life well is an art;
How men love you, how men regard,
Is all in the size of your heart.
Mrs. G. Fauser, Alta.

Music was supplied by Carm Peters and seven others, some of whom came from Oshawa for the evening. All in all, it was a great evening and will help out Grenville's family. The good crowd signifies the esteem with which Grenville is held by his many friends.

Last week, I promised more news concerning the public meeting of the Association for Children With Learning Disabilities: we have Pat Casey from Lindsay coming to speak to us. Pat is a high-school teacher and has among his degrees, one in learning disabilities. He will speak on "Parents as Teachers". This meeting will be held at the Haliburton Legion on Tuesday, February 26 at eight o'clock. Don't forget this date and please plan to attend.

Best wishes to Lloyd Harrison in Scarborough General. Jim Harrison and Shirley were down to Toronto this past week to visit him. By the way, I got your message Lloyd.

I saw Barb Allison the other day and she is looking well since her stay in hospital. She says she feels stronger every day.

Fern Lake and Art Kennedy spent the past weekend in the area. They are from Bowmanville and said they wouldn't be back until spring. When they walked in, I thought perhaps it was spring. We've had a bit of white stuff this weekend.

Welch's Store at Maple Lake has undergone some renovations and has a new name "Welch's Foodtown Market". Come in on Saturday and enjoy a free coffee and donut.

Just a mention here that the "World Day of Prayer" will be celebrated in our Zion United Church in Carnarvon on March 7 which is a Friday. Mark the date on your calendar and plan to attend.

Our Minden Juvenile team travelled to Port Carling on Sunday night for the third game in their best three out of five games of play-off hockey series. They came home the winners with a score of four to three.

Ruby and Elvin Johnson arrived home safely from their trip to Ecuador. Son Ralph picked them up at the airport in Toronto last Saturday.

From the United Church Bulletin of February 17 - "You will never move up, if you are continually running someone down."

Bud Thomas is in Peterborough hospital for surgery. Best of luck, Bud, we'll look forward to your return to good health again.

The Tim Harrison Memorial hockey tournament was played at the Minden Community Centre on Saturday. Fenelon Falls took the championship with Minden winning the consolation trophy. Terry Crowe won the outstanding goalie award as he didn't let one goal past him all day. There were no injuries or squabbles during the tournament. All in all, it was reported as a day of good clean hockey.

Bill Scott was re-elected in the Victoria-Haliburton riding by quite a large majority. Congratulations, Bill, and regards to the other candidates who fought the good fight.

Hookers take over gallery

There is a great deal more to rug hooking than making mats for your floor, and Mrs. Elva Hasselfeldt is the woman who can explain how to make wall hangings and sculptured pieces which have won for her the highest awards in the last few years.

Her sculptured mushrooms won top honours at the Canadian National Exhibition and one was chosen by the Toronto Dominion Bank for their calendar. A sculptured bell-push was similarly rewarded at a "make" exhibition at the Toronto Science Centre and the Canadian Craftsmen Show, after which it toured Canada. Mrs. Hasselfeldt also won the Harding rug award at the C.N.E. in 1975. In 1976 she and her husband were asked to participate in "Artisanage" the Arts and Culture programme for the Olympic Games.

These pieces and many more will be on display at the Rails' End Gallery from February 26 to March 15. Mrs. Hasselfeldt will hold a workshop in the gallery on February 26 and 27 which will start off three weeks of rug hooking events. There will be demonstrations, discussions, and exhibitions going on each day. March 5 our local rug hooking group will have a special slide presentation at 1 p.m.

Creative rug hooking and rug making is an old skill that has become an art form for those who do their own designing using a variety of techniques and materials.

Everyone is invited to see this unusual and beautiful display at the Rails' End Gallery and anyone with a particular interest in this craft will have an opportunity to talk with those at work and learn of the plans which the rug hooking group have for the next year.
